— REFLECTIONS FROM BISHOP JORDAN’S DESK —
Black History

Psalm 33:12

There are many of us, black or white, who know very little of the contributions of the blacks in America. Black History has given us glimpses of the blacks in America. Few, very few, are aware of the place and work of the blacks in America. The black contribution has been tremendous in this country. When given the chance, we have been successful.

We have exceeded from the slave markets to the White House, as President of the United States. We’ve excelled in the areas of sports, politics, business, and the arts just to name a few. We of the so-called colored race should be proud of a people whose ancestors were kidnapped from their homes. They were shipped on crowded ships to be sold at auctions. We have risen to become Mayors of cities, governors, police chiefs, owners of manufactures, etc. Might I say there is not enough talk of the good things we have given to the country that we dearly love.

Yes, Black History is solid in the fabric of America. Blacks have served in the Revolutionary War through the wars in Afghanistan, not to mention two World Wars. Yes, Black History should be recognized in America and the world should be recognized in America and the World.

America has had its faults in dealing with races, but as Black Americans we have been blessed, and have flourished in the United States of America. You might say we’ve come a long way, yet we as black Americans still have a long way to go.

Our race today is being challenged with apathy and a lack of importance. However, as Black Americans, we look forward to a brighter day, because beyond every cloud there is a silver lining. We do have our young gifted and black youth, through our colleges, universities, trade schools, etc. Our staff of black doctors has dwindled through the years, yet we as blacks know this group will improve.

I am proud to be a Black American and will continue to pray and hope for a better day. When all will look beyond our color, and be true Americans, proud Americans, who happen to be Black.

There will come a time when all get to heaven, and what a time that will be when we all see Jesus, we will all shout for victory.

Amen.

“God Remembers No More”

God remembers no more,
our sin, our disgrace . . .
His mercy forgets them
thru our faith in His grace.

Our past shortcomings, He'll not again analyze for our former failures
we won't be penalized.

God remembers no more,
our mistakes, our shame
on our souls He took pity
so His peace we could claim.

All of our rebellion,
He envisions no more
our earlier transgressions
He'll not again explore.

God remembers no more,
our shame, our sin . . .
no longer do we need to carry disgrace within!
